"INDIAN TROUBLES."

A despatch from St. Louis, dated the 11th of July, published in the papers yesterday, states that an Indian outbreak in the Blue Country is imminent. From information received at the Office of Indian Affairs we are satisfied that there is no actual danger at present. The dissatisfaction among the Indians has arisen from the long delay in furnishing them the goods and presents which they were promised in the treaty made last October. An appropriation to enable this to be done has already passed the Senate, and is now before the House; and measures have been taken by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to inform the Indians that the promises made to them will be shortly fulfilled. As doing so will remove all cause of complaint, no apprehension of trouble need be felt. — Washington Intelligence.

This is not the first time that the people of the territories, when Indian troubles are threatened, have been assured by the very urbane and philanthropic gentlemen in charge of the Indian Bureau that "no apprehension of trouble need be felt," that "the dissatisfaction among the Indians has arisen from the long delay, &c., &c.," all of which is very well for the self-complacent attaché of the Indian Bureau who sits in his elegant apartment at Washington and sips his colobers on these warm summer days, but it is hardly satisfactory to the hardy miner or farmer, who, while engaged in the laudable purpose of developing the latent wealth of the nation in this far off region, sees his comrades, and in some cases his helpless wife and children, brutally murdered by a relentless foe. It hardly compensates the enterprising frontiersman who witnesses the destruction of his train the loss of a life time of unremitting labor, while the entire population of the territories, who for years have been paying from twenty-five to fifty per cent. additional for merchandise on account of the risk of transportation through the hostile Indian country, are not disposed to receive the very encouraging assurances of these gentlemen with perfect confidence.

We were in Minnesota in 1862 when the Sioux tribe threatened an outbreak, but the Indian Superintendent, who was then in St. Paul, assured the people that "no apprehension of trouble need be felt," as $97,000, which had been "delayed," was then on its way to the agent of the tribe, and that would make everything all right, consequently no apprehension was felt, the military force among the tribe was reduced one-half, which brilliant move was followed by the slaughter of upwards of 1,000 innocent settlers within six weeks.

How much longer will it take Congress to learn that soldiers and soldiers alone, afford confidence to the white and terror to the red man? We have had enough of promises offered as a premium for murdering and robbing our people. We can get along without any further nice professions from meaty-mouthed politicians who come here as treaty commissioners to line their own pockets and leave the permanent settler to reap the vengeance which follows their duplicity towards the Indians.

What we want is a good Indian fighter, untrammelled by orders, with 1,500 men to back him, and he will in one year's time make a solid, lasting peace with every Indian about the western base of the Rocky Mountains. But that don't suit the speculative gentlemen at Washington, who are after a big haul this year, as is shown by the following extract from the House proceedings of the 16th ult.:

Mr. Kasson, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported back the Senate amendment to the Indian appropriation bill, and recommended that as much as they increase the appropriation nearly $2,000,000, arising out of new treaties with the Indians, they be non-concurred in, and a Committee of Conference asked for. He showed how appropriations for the Indian Department had been increased from $19,900 for 1829, to $300,000 for 1866, and to be over $4,000,000 for 1867. He wished the Committee of Conference to ascertain whether there was no means for the House to exercise some check over the Senate in the making of treaties, which involve such large appropriations.

The amendments were non-concurred in, and a Committee of Conference asked for.

THE NEW YORK QUARANTINE GROUNDS. The injunction some time ago issued to restrain the New York Board of Health from occupying, for quarantine purposes, the grounds seized by them for that purpose at Seguin's Point, Staten Island, has been established by the judicial authorities at New York, and the health commissioners have therefore been obliged to abandon the place, after expending some $15,000 in making preparations for the use of the grounds during the summer. The commissioners will now endeavor to prepare quarantine accommodations at a place called the Narrows and south of Staten Island. It is entirely under water, and is not a very inviting or promising field for quarantine purposes, but it is the best the board can do to try and get along there this summer. The latest Legislature appropriated $400,000 for building a quarantine there, and the general government has appropriated a similar sum, the idea being to make all land there by artificial filling.

It is devoutly to be hoped that not many cholera patients will arrive at New York until there is something like an apology for quarantine accommodations. No city was ever so overruled with corrupt courts and unprincipled and human judges as New York. — Springfield Republican.

San Francisco, July 25. A meeting of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday for the purpose of forming a committee to co-operate with the New York committee in securing a creditable representation at the World's Fair, and particularly with a view to collecting specimens of the agricultural and mineral products of the Pacific States for exhibition thereat.

A letter to Consul Godoy states that President Juarez had arrived at Chihuahua on June 17th, and was received with the utmost enthusiasm.

A San Diego, California, letter of July 16th says: Major-General Vega of the Mexican army had arrived there with some followers.

The Union County Convention meets this evening, and to this fact may be attributed the unusual rushing to and fro, the button-bolling and buzzing of delegates to the Convention, and the small knots of men engaged in earnest discussion on Montgomery street corners.

The great rush appears to be for the position of Chief of Police; all the other offices are comparatively unsought for in the desire of numerous candidates to guard and protect the property of their fellow-citizens.

The only question of reconstruction now occupying the public attention is in connection with the police department. Judging from the excitement in the matter one would suppose that this was the only important office to be filled.

The Duane brothers will be arraigned before Judge Pratt to plead to their indictment for murder on Tuesday next.

The ship Elias Greenman, 50 days from Hongkong, arrived this morning. Hon. W. M. Rubin is appointed Acting Colonial Secretary for Hongkong. The coon-hip "X" added was recovered by fire off the shore on the 16th.

A sailing had previously occurred. A ten men had been fogged and put in irons. The chief mate, one apprentice and one hundred and forty emigrants were lost.

The expedition against the pirates on the west coast by three English gunboats had been very successful.

The Hongkong Press of May 31 reports that the bark Libelle, which cleared from Hongkong, January 23d, was wrecked. She was cleared from here by Macoustray & Co. All the treasure, amounting to $93,945, was saved and buried by the captain on an island.

The Bremen bark Libelle, under command of Captain Tobias, on the passage from San Francisco to Hongkong, with a cargo valued at $300,000, was cast away on the 4th of March on an uninhabited and dangerous reef called Wake Island.

The passengers and crew remained on board during the night, the sea breaking fearfully over the wreck all the while, and were landed with difficulty through the breakers the following day.

After an ineffectual search for water for three weeks and much privation, it became imperative to take to the boats and try to reach the nearest habitable island, friendly disposed to shipwrecked people.

Several days were spent in finding a suitable and safe point of departure, the breakers encircling the island, which appeared to be about twenty miles in circumference. Taking such provisions and water as were saved from the wreck the passengers were transferred to the ship's long boat in charge of the first mate, the captain preferring his gig, and on the 27th of March both boats sailed for the Ladrone or Mariana Island.

Twenty-two persons, with provisions, in an open boat but 22 feet in length, to undertake a voyage of 1,400 miles, subject to equinoctial storms, calms and a tropical sun and short rations, and an ocean studded with hidden rocks and coral reefs, gave but poor hope of arriving at the port of life.

The captain, with eight persons, in a boat of thirty feet in length, leaving at the same time, have not been heard from, and unless picked up by some chance vessel must have been swamped, as a heavy cross sea was met with shortly after leaving the island.

This, it is said, was the third vessel the captain was so unfortunate to lose within a few years. Among the passengers were Madame Anna Bishop, Miss Phelps, M. Schults and Charles Lascelles of the English Opera Troupe, and Eugene M. Van Reed, of Kansas.

A schooner has been chartered and sent to search for the missing boat among the islands to the southward, and to return to Wake Island and retrieve the large amount of treasure which had been saved and buried there.

Col. Marcy's Army Life "Billy," the Mule.

The following is from Col. Marcy's Thirty Years of Army Life:

An incident occurred while we were in the mountains which struck me at the time as being one of the most remarkable and touching evidences of devotion that I have ever known evinced among the brute creation.

On leaving Fort Leavenworth with the army for Utah in the previous summer, one of the officers rode a small mule, whose kind and gentle disposition soon caused him to become a favorite among the soldiers, and they called him Billy. As this officer and myself were often thrown together on the march, the mule, in a few days, evinced a growing attachment for the man that I rode. The sentiment was not, however, reciprocated on his part, and she intimated as much by the reversed position of her ears and the free exercise of her feet and teeth whenever Billy came within her reach.

When leaving Camp Scott for New Mexico, Billy was among the number selected for the expedition. During the march I was in the habit, when starting out of camp in the morning, of leading off the party and directing the packman to hold the mule until I should go so far in advance with the mare that he could not see us; but the moment he was released he would, in spite of all the efforts of the packers, start off at a most furious pace, and never stop or cease braying until he had reached the mare's side.

We soon found it impossible to keep him with the other mules, and he was finally permitted to have his own way. In the course of time we encountered the deep snows in the Rocky Mountains, where the animals could get no forage, and Billy, in common with the others, at length became so weak and jaded that he was unable any longer to leave his place in the caravan and break a track through the snow around to the front.

He made frequent attempts to turn out and force his way ahead, but after numerous unsuccessful efforts he would fall down exhausted and set up a most mournful braying. The other mules soon began to fail, and to be left, worn out and famished, to die by the wayside. It was not, however, for some time that Billy showed symptoms of becoming one of the victims.

Until one evening, after our arrival at camp, I was informed that he had dropped down and been left upon the road during the day. The men all deplored his loss exceedingly, as his devotion to the mare had touched their kind hearts, and many expressions of sympathy were uttered around their bivouac-fires on that evening.

Much to our surprise, however, about 10 o'clock, just as we were going to sleep, we heard a mule braying about half a mile to the rear upon our trail. Sure enough, it proved to be Billy, who, after having rested, and followed upon our track and overtaken us. As soon as he reached the side of the mare, he laid down and seemed perfectly contented.

The next day I relieved him of his pack and allowed him to run loose; and during the march he gave out and was again abandoned to his fate, and this time we never expected to see him more.

To our great astonishment, however, about 12 o'clock that night the sonorous but low musical notes of Billy in the distance aroused us from our slumbers, and again announced his approach.

In an instant the men were upon their feet, gave three rousing cheers, and rushed out in a body to meet and escort him into camp. But this well-meant ovation elicited no response from him. He came reeling and floundering along through the snow, perfectly regardless of the honours being paid him, and occupied the trail or interrupted his progress in the least.

Wandering about until he found the mare, he dropped down by her side and remained until morning.

When we resumed our march on the following day, he made another fall down, but this time he was so exhausted that he could not get up, and he was abandoned to his fate. You may, indeed, have seen a victim of unrequited affection.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The Vindicator is the oldest daily newspaper of Utah. Its circulation is every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho. (To which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers.) makes it the most advantageous medium for advertising in these four central Territories.

Head Center Stephens has been released on bail.

A Johnson man at Saratoga refuses to drink from Congress Spring.

INDIANS.—We understand that a party of 600 Indians have made their appearance near the northern line of this Territory, on the Holladay Stage Line, creating quite a panic among the settlers in that vicinity.

PORTLAND, Maine, was burned by the British in October, 1812. One hundred and thirty-six of the principal dwellings, its churches and public edifices, were destroyed.

SENATOR Pomeroy, of Kansas, is proposed for President of the Senate in place of Mr. Foster.

A YOUNGER brother of the Rev. T. S. Kellogg has been creating scandal at Ottawa, Kansas.

PROFANE, BUT TRUE.—"Mack," the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, expresses the opinion that it is time the people of the South were induced "to quit raising hell, and go to raising cotton."

GEN. DIX has written a letter cordially approving the objects of the Philadelphia Convention, and promising to do all in his power to render the Convention a success.

PERSONAL.—Yesterday we had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. T. J. Favorite, the popular editor and proprietor of the Helena, Montana, Radiator. The Radiator is the oldest paper at Helena, and through the indomitable energy of Mr. Favorite it has become one of the leading papers of the Territory. Mr. F. proposes to solicit subscriptions and advertisements in this city, and those in want of an able, reliable paper from the Northern Mines, or a profitable advertising medium, cannot do better than to give the Radiator their patronage.

ANOTHER WHOOPER.—The Mormon daily of this city, in its Sunday issue, gives an account of a fracas which occurred at Brigham's whiskey-mill in the Salt Lake House on Saturday last, which contains as many misstatements as compass of so short a paragraph, exceeding even its own usual excellence in that favorite style of literature—a feat we had hitherto thought impossible. Like all of its class it was simply intended for effect on the outside.

The fact, as it really occurred, is thus stated. A discharged soldier went, very foolishly, into the place designated with three others of his comrades to "smile"—a metaphorical impossibility when swallowing the villainous compounds there kept for sale. The soldier put down a dollar greenback, which bar-keeper swept into the Church drawer. In a few moments he demanded pay a second time—a little overcalculating the usual celerity of effect of his "nitro-glycerine." On being told that payment had once been made, he called the soldier a pet name, accompanying the epithet with a blow which brought blood. This caused considerable excitement and some rough talk, and, but for the interference of some gentlemen present, the shewbang would have been cleaned out and bar-keeper got his just deserts in a sound thrashing. No policemen were about, and the representative of the city in the whiskey business didn't jump over the bar, not much, though he came very near performing the feat quite against his will. We think this affair should prove a warning to persons bibulously inclined not to venture on a visit into such a respectable den, when there are respectable places of resort for such purposes under gentle auspices and gentlemanly management.

By the by, we hear that a certain gentleman, who has made himself obnoxious to the city patriarchy, and who gave the bar-keeper a proper "piece of his mind" on the occasion, has had his life threatened in consequence, if he does not leave the city. He don't belong to the fugitive species, however, and only asks not to be shot in the back after dark.

Colorado and its Progress.

The American Mining Atlas, in its publishing of mining operations, gives the following facts concerning the different provinces now in use and being introduced in that Territory:

We will now briefly notice the different processes in operation. The only smelting works in operation at present are those of James E. Lyon & Co. These works, when in full blast, have a capacity of thirty or thirty-five tons a day, but only about one-third of this amount is now being worked for want of the necessary machinery, which is now on its way thither. The works will in a few weeks be able to run their full capacity. A number of other furnaces are now in course of construction in different sections of the mines, and will be in operation soon. By the smelting process both pyrites and argentiferous galena ores are worked with equal facility; the doubts of many relative to the feasibility of working pyrites ores having been removed by several months' successful working. The argentiferous galena ores yield by this process from $50 to $150 per ton, while the pyrites ores when dressed yield from $100 to $300, and in some cases as high as $400 per ton. The expense of dressing and smelting the ores is estimated at $25 per ton, there being no particular difference between the different kinds of ore. Keith's process has many friends, but as far as we have learned, it has been tested only in the Gregory and Bobtail lodes. On their ores it has done remarkably well, saving from the first named lode $600 per cord, or about $60 per ton—a yield of over four times the amount ever saved from the same quality of ore by the stamp mill process. On Bobtail ore the difference between this process and that of the stamp mill is not so great, the yield being increased nearly one hundred per cent.

Argentiferous galena ores cannot be worked by the Keith process. It possesses, however, the advantage of being very cheap, costing only about $5 per ton more to work a given amount of ore than the stamp mill.

The Mason process, which consists in desulphurizing and disintegrating by the use of super-heated steam, has not as yet been satisfactorily tested. A mill on this principle is now in operation under the supervision of Mr. McIntyre. Some ores have undergone the treatment; specified, but as we have not heard of their being amalgamated, we are unable to state the results.

The Dodge process has been in operation a short time, and is pronounced by persons who claim to know, a success. To say the least, it is a decided improvement over the stamp mill.

To sum up, we may say that Colorado possesses two processes, Keith's and the smelting—that are really good, and are yielding large returns. We hope that others as yet only partially tested, will prove equally successful. Most of the stamp mills are running, and will continue until replaced by the improved methods.

California Items.

The peach crop this season, in this vicinity, will be much larger than it has been for a number of years past, says the Fresno Telegraph.

Wilson Flint, of Sacramento, whose farm is situated a few miles from the city, on the American river, is now extensively engaged in the silk culture.

A twentieth interest in the Eureka mine, near Grass Valley, was sold a few days since, for $43,000. This is equal to $380,000 for the mine. As the company are now getting out about $70,000 month, the mine is paying an excellent profit on the investment. The interest recently sold was purchased in the company. Pricot, who bought the mine about a year since for $400,000, was the seller.

The sale of Government buildings at Camp Union took place Friday last. The attendance was large, and the bidding quite spirited, says the Sacramento Union.

Fare by the opposition steamer.—The fare to New York by the opposition steamship Moses Taylor via Nicaragua has been fixed at the following rates: First cabin, $100; second cabin, $60; steerage, $35.—Bulletin 23d.

SCREW AMALGAMATOR.—Another new Amalgamator has been introduced. It is on the screw principle. A screw, say with three or four flanges, with shoes attached, enclosed in a cylinder is fixed vertically in a pan sloping inward at the bottom. The circumference of the pan between the cylinder and its sides, is divided by four inclined partitions sloping from the top of the cylinder to the lower part of the pan, and between each is an opening in the cylinder. When the screw is rotated the pulp of crushed quartz and quicksilver passes into the cylinder down the threads through the holes in the cylinder, up the inclined planes back into the cylinder, and so on. If the motion of the screw is reversed, the mass of pulp and quicksilver is forced upward through the cylinder, from every point of which it is discharged in a spray, falling down the sides of the pan and passing in the same manner by the same constant working it is claimed that the quicksilver comes in contact with, and secures, every particle of the precious metals.—American Journal of Mining.

FROM PAHRANAGAT.—We have been shown a letter written at Pahrnagat by W. T. Nichols, in which the writer says the place is improving rapidly. Quite a number of the ledges were being worked to advantage, and Nichols thinks all they need is the means of reducing their ores to insure an early shipment of silver. He complains of the great and pressing need of communication with the interior of the State, their letters being carried nearly altogether by Indians. An Indian express had arrived at Pahrnagat in four days from Indian Springs, a distance of 150 miles.—Reveille.

The National Intelligencer reads Henry J. Raymond out of the "Conservative" party. It says: "Having attached himself to the Union cause for the purpose, now so manifest, of betraying it whenever practicable, he has at last unflinchingly resumed his position in the ranks of the common enemy, and may complacently say to his co-conspirators that he has inflicted serious harm upon the cause of restored Union."
